Increase of Mail During Holidays.

Postmaster Wm. B. McIlhenny is making preparations to handle the increased volume of mail matter around the holidays so that there will be as little delay as possible. He states that the patrons of the service in this town can materially aid in facilitating the handling, dispatching and delivery of mail if they will be careful in wrapping all packages securely. Early use of the mails for sending Christmas presents is urged.

The Money Order division will be closed all day on Christmas. The registry division, stamp window and general delivery will be open until 12 M., and from 6 P. M. to 6:30. The city carriers will make one delivery and collection at 11:30 A. M. The rural carriers will make their regular delivery and collection. All afternoon mail should be deposited at the Post-office when it will be dispatched as usual.

To assure the prompt and safe delivery of mail matter during the holidays, Postmaster McIlhenny makes the following suggestions:

Make neat packages, wrap and pack well and tie securely. Many packages go to the Dead Letter Office because of coming loose in the mails.

Do not put writing into mail matter which you want to send at other than first class rates. It is a violation of the postal regulations, punishable with a fine.

Post cards of which many will be mailed during the holidays are very often improperly sent through the postoffice are held up, owing to their being mailed contrary to regulations.

Post cards bearing particles of glass, metal, mica, and tinsel or other similar substance, are unavailable, except when enclosed in envelopes with proper postage attached at the rate of one cent for each ounce without writing, and two cents for each ounce with writing.

Cards which do not contain any writing except the name and address of the sender, or a greeting such as "Merry Christmas", "Happy New Year", "Yours Truly", "With Best Wishes", etc., can be sent in unsealed envelopes at one cent for one ounce. If envelope is sealed the rate is two cents for one ounce.

Cards without writing enclosed in unsealed transparent envelopes are subject to postage at two ounces for one cent. With writing, sealed or unsealed, one ounce for two cents.

Valuable letters and parcels should be registered. This not only insures the safe and correct delivery but registered parcels are handled with more care than are parcels in ordinary mail and the sender receives a return card immediately showing the date of delivery.

W. M. R. Sued for Damages.

Suit was brought in our Court of Common Pleas last week by Pierce Plank against B. F. Bush, Receiver of Western Maryland R. R. Co., to recover damages for the loss of a Durham bull, a Durham cow, a heifer and a sheep which were killed Sept. 24th last by an excursion train running to Baltimore. The plaintiff alleges his stock was killed in consequence of the failure of the engineer to give warning of the approach of the train to the crossing of the public road from the York turnpike to the Hunterstown road.

BABY'S ITCH EASILY CURED

Infantile Eczema Quickly Relieved by External Use of Oil of Wintergreen Compound.

Infantile eczema, which has baffled the skill of the best physicians for so many years at last seems to be curable—and curable with great ease.

Results of the last two years indicate conclusively that baby's itch, infantile eczema and other skin diseases of children can be very simply cured by the application of a compound composed of oil of wintergreen, thymol and glycerine, as in D. D. Prescription. The Rev. Lewis Steeley, of Weatherly Pa., writes:

"Our baby boy's little face was so dreadfully covered with eczema that blood and water ran from the sores nearly all the time. After using 3 1/2 bottles of D. D. Prescription we are so happy to tell you he is entirely cured and the disease has never broken out again. If this letter is in any way a help to other sufferers, you may publish it.

If you have a child which is suffering with this terrible itch, we are sure you will not neglect one hour to give your baby the right kind of relief. We have seen too often how quickly the remedy mentioned above takes the itch away at once and how all the cures seem to be permanent: we have seen this too often to hesitate at all in recommending the remedy for your children. For sale at The Peoples Drug Store.

Don't forget that a pair of our F. M. L. kid gloves, would make an acceptable Xmas present. The best $1.00 made.

BEAUTIFUL HOME WEDDING

WHITE AND PINK WAS COLOR SCHEME OF THE DECORATIONS.

Miss Emma J. Cobean and Hugh McIlhenny United in Marriage.

COBEAN-MCILHENNY.—About one hundred guests witnessed the beautiful wedding at the home of the bride of Miss Emma J. Cobean, daughter of Mrs. Annie Cobean of Carlisle street and Hugh McIlhenny, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. McIlhenny of Straban Twp., on last Wednesday afternoon. The house was tastefully decorated, the color scheme being pink and white. At four o'clock the wedding party entered the parlor to the Lohengrin march played by Miss Ruth McIlhenny, a sister of the groom, who played during the ceremony "Meditation."

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white net over white taffeta trimmed with Porto Rican hand-made lace and carried white chrysanthemums. The maid of honor was Miss Luella McAllister, who wore a white French lawn gown over pink and carried pink roses. John W. McIlhenny, brother of the groom was best man. The other members of the wedding party were Charles Cobean, brother of the bride, who gave her away, and Dr. Geo. C. Cobean, who acted as usher. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. W. Woods, pastor of the bride and groom.

The bride received many handsome presents of cut glass, silverware and linen. Mr. and Mrs. McIlhenny left on the 5.45 train on a wedding tour and upon their return will reside in this place.

Guests from a distance were Dr. and Mrs. Franklin Menges of York, Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Hand of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Tyler and Miss Rose Tyler of Chambersburg.

The Christmas Dinner.

In spite of the fact that the word dyspepsia means literally bad cook, it will not be fair for many to lay the blame on the cook if they begin the Christmas dinner with little appetite and end it with distress or nausea. It may not be fair for any to do that—let us hope so for the sake of the cook! The disease dyspepsia indicates a bad stomach, that is a weak stomach, rather than a bad cook, and for a weak stomach there is nothing else equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla. It gives the stomach vigor and tone, cures dyspepsia, creates appetite, and makes eating the pleasure it should be.

Fruit Growers Convention.

The Fruit Growers Association of Adams County will hold their fourth annual convention at Bendersville on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week, Dec. 16th, 17th and 18th.

An elaborate program has been prepared with some of the ablest speakers in the country on the respective subjects to be treated. Some of those who will take part are the following:

Mr. Barton says that many years' experience growing a great variety of produce for Philadelphia market indicates that nothing has given him more satisfactory returns than peaches. The whys and wherefores cannot but be interesting and instructive.

Mr. Roberts is one of New Jersey's eminently successful fruit growers who practices what he preaches. He will tell us how to grow chestnuts commercially and what he has found to be the best method of treating a young orchard prior to its coming into bearing—a subject of vital interest to us all.

Prof. Craig is familiar with the extensive experimental orchard work that has been done in New York and will discuss the general subject of orchard management.

Mr. Cox comes from the home of the "Rome Beauty" and besides, being President of the Ohio State Horticultural Association, is himself a large and successful grower of that valuable variety. He is a strong advocate of the mulch system of managing hill-side orchards.

Prof. Stewart needs no introduction to a Pennsylvania Horticultural audience. Having charge of experimental horticulture in this State, he is alive to every phase of the question.

The improper grading of apples to gether with "short" packages and fraudulent marking have made such a dent in the confidence of the consumer as to arouse widespread interest among honest growers and a bill designated to regulate interstate commerce in apples was introduced in Congress last spring. This bill has been revised and amended and Mr. Rothwell, Secretary of the International Apple Shipper's Association, will present the matter for our consideration.

Mr. Cox, as Vice President of the American Apple Growers' Congress, will also discuss the merits of this bill. The full program of the convention is as follows:

Trolley Branches.

Civil Engineer Robert McKinnon and a corps of surveyors started Tuesday of last week to make a survey for a branch trolley line from McSherrystown to New Oxford, which in all probability will be built early next Spring. The survey which is being made will connect with the Hanover and McSherrystown Street Railway near Sand Hill, at the edge of McSherrystown. This new branch which will be the shortest route to New Oxford, passing Conewago Chapel, Edgegrove and Irishtown.

As previously told this branch to New Oxford will likely include taking over the East Berlin railroad and making a trolley branch of it, that will include Abbottstown, East Berlin and New Oxford and the prospects are not bright for the extension to Gettysburg until all this work has been completed. It is said that when the Gettysburg branch is built it is more likely to come from New Oxford than Littlestown.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL ROAD

MEETING CALLED BY BURGESS SLAYBAUGH FOR WEDNESDAY.

Let Every One Help to Make a Big Rousing Meeting and One Worth While.

The time has arrived for the people of Gettysburg and Adams County to take action in the matter of the Lincoln Memorial highway. Bills providing for the construction of the highway have been introduced in U. S. Senate and House of Representatives. They will be taken up by the Committees to which they have been referred at an early date. Cities and towns along the route have resolutions and petitions ready to be considered by the committees. The question may be asked what is Gettysburg's position and it would be a reproach to our community and our great history to have it that this community has taken no action. What we do may be but a drop in a bucket, but every soul who breathes in this community should want to be a part of that drop in the historical bucket of the work to be done to obtain this highway and should go to some trouble to do what can be done, not alone for selfish reasons, but because of the sentiment that would build a great Memorial to Lincoln, typifying peace and usefulness.

Burgess E. E. Slaybaugh has called a town meeting for Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock to give this community an opportunity to publicly express its self on this subject. Let this meeting be what it should be, a rousing meeting filling the Court House, a meeting to show that we are equal to the emergency and are worthy of our history and environment. Every one, men, women and children, who can should be present, history is being written, help to write it.

Every organization of town and county should resolve at the earliest date possible and pass along their resolutions to Congressman Lefean and Senator Knox. Every one should get busy for the Lincoln Memorial Highway.

Congressman Lefean put through what was probably the most strenuous week of his career as a Congressman last week in his effort to secure favorable action from Senators and Representatives for the Lincoln Memorial highway bill. Mr. Lefean was much gratified with the success that met his labors. He found his bill very popular with Senators and Congressmen and the prospect is very bright for the bill being enacted into a law on Feb. 12, 1909, the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Lincoln.

Senator Knox expressed great interest in the project and on last Thursday introduced in the Senate a duplicate of the bill Mr. Lefean presented in the House on Monday. He told Mr. Lefean that he had been surprised at the interest Senators had shown in the project, at least 30 of his colleagues having talked with him about the matter and promised to support the bill.

It is not probable that complications will arise by reason of another bill and other suggestions that have been made. Congressman Pearre of Maryland introduced a bill last week for a Lincoln Memorial highway committee from Washington to Gettysburg by way of the Antietam battlefield and but 100 feet wide. This bill provides for a commission to construct the same to be appointed by the President. Governor Crothers of Maryland and Baltimore people have been suggesting that the road go to Gettysburg by way of Baltimore, using the Baltimore and Washington Boulevard 15 miles of the same having been completed and this finished part would offset the additional mileage.

All information from Washington indicate that the Lefean bill is the one which is high in favor. It does not fix the route, the tentative route being from the White House on almost an air line to Westminster and then at a right angle to the northwest on another air line to Gettysburg. The distance approximately would be 85 miles and the appropriation of $3,000,000 would provide $30,000 to the mile. The ultimate route would however be determined by the commission provided by the bill.

This commission, according to the terms of the bill, will unquestionably bring support to the bill. It will be composed of seven members, the chairman of the Library committee of the Senate, Senator Welton, and the ranking Democratic member of that committee, Senator Daniel, the Chairman of the Library Committee of the House, Congressman McCall and the ranking Democratic member of that committee, Congressman Howard, and the originator of the Lincoln highway idea former Representative McCreary and two members of the Cabinet, the Secretary of State and the Secretary of War.

Mr. Lefean also has reason to believe that Speaker Cannon will favor his bill and permit it to come to a vote if a favorable report is obtained from the Committee on Appropriations, where it has been referred. That the committee will report it favorably is to be expected for Chairman Tawney was born near Gettysburg, and as a child heard the rattle of musketry and the booming of cannon during the three days' battle, and is deeply interested in his home section and the welfare of the nation.

BUYING APPLE WOOD.

FARMFIELD, Dec. 14.—Owen Bruck of Lancaster City has been in this community for several weeks buying apple tree buds for the Diston Saw Company. The prices are small but they pay for the cutting down and getting out of the way many old trees which are full of scale and ought to be taken away.

The lodge of I. O. O. F. of Fairview held their annual oyster supper last Friday night in their hall. The weather was inclement but the turnout was large, the supper excellent and the entertainment splendid.

Miss Daisy Moore of this place held a bazaar at her home on Saturday afternoon and evening. Miss Moore, who has been afflicted for a number of years so as to be unable to walk or even sit has spent much of her time in making many beautiful and useful things. These were on exhibition and she realized a nice sum from the sale of these articles.

The Sunday Christmas exercises of the Lutheran Church will be held on Christmas eve, Thursday evening, Dec. 24th. The Returned Sunday School will hold their exercises on Christmas evening.

Up to date there has nothing been heard of any further developments at diphtheria at Zora or in the community. The school in the vicinity was closed for a number of days for the purpose of disinfecting the house.

WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO
 TO GET READY FOR THE 50th ANNIVERSARY?

Gettysburg College could help to get the town ready to present a handsome appearance for the 50th anniversary. It would be one of the best advertisements to the college to appeal to the eyes of the thousands of visitors to have the grounds well kept. So many institutions make this appeal and while the landscape gardener has beautified the campus and it usually presents an attractive appearance, yet as a whole it lacks a tone on account of the ragged fringes. There is nothing would so tone up the whole effect as fine concrete walks along the entire front on Washington Street extending to Lincoln Ave. and the Square in front of the Prep grounds on Carlisle Street should be similarly treated. Any lawn ending in ground walks is bound to look ragged at the edges, and to give the same lawn a clean, clear outline with concrete pavements will give a finish worth in appearance many times the outlay. The College could use much cement effectively but its first duty is to the town and at least so much as indicated. This should not be an enormous undertaking. There is one community in this country where more cement is made than in any other place in the world and the prevailing atmosphere of that place is Lutheran. Judicious purchases of cement might bring donations of cement or the two might go hand in hand. The concrete walks at Seminary have made a great change for the better there and College ought to keep up with the pace. Besides it ought to be considered a civic duty the College owes not only to itself but to the town, to give the public the best improvements in the way of pavements and get ready for the 50th anniversary.

DITCH FILLING.

Let no one think that ditch digging and ditch filling is any old kind of a job, anybody can do with half an eye, or no eye at all. The Burgess and Town Council are at odds over the matter. This thing of making a hole and then pulling in the hole afterwards, so that no one can tell where the hole was is an art unknown and unappreciated in these diggings. Just where the Burgess got his "larning" in the matter of ditch digging would not appear, for political ditch digging would hardly be a preparatory course to the real thing, but for that matter just where any of the host who dig up the streets of this town in a marvelous way to behold, get their "larning" is as marvelous. For instance, the borough graded the west end of Middle St., and the water pipes came too near the surface, so the pipes had to be lowered and the result was a beautifully rounded mountain ridge along the length of the street, upon which good money had been spent, and the ridge was high enough in places to come near upsetting a conveyance, if struck in the gloaming at the proper angle. Isn't it time for a little education on the matter of ditch digging and filling. Could not the borough afford to pay the Street Supt. an extra month's salary, if he went to some place where trenches are dug and filled according to the most improved methods, leaving no uneven surface and provided he returned with a certificate that he had done duty with a gang engaged at that work. If the Supt. could acquire some first class practical knowledge on the subject, the borough ought to help pay for it and then ought to pass an ordinance, forbidding any one to open and close a street unless done under the directions of the Street Superintendent.

BOROUGH BONDS.

Things happen in piece meal way when the borough fathers get together and resolve so that the whole story does not always appear when reported. At the last meeting a motion carried that borough bonds be printed, now this means that the street piking and improving going on all over town are to be paid for by borough bonds. Early in the year an ordinance was passed, to provide for an issue of borough bonds to amount of $10,000. According to the information at hand it was decided not to issue them at once as the money would bear interest at once, but to go ahead and make the improvement to the streets, and when the total outlay was known, then issue so much of the authorized amount as would be needed to pay the bills.

The Ghost Spy.

General.

"General, we bring you a spy. While at work on the breach the enemy made yesterday we discovered this man or boy, whichever he may be, at times working with us, at times looking about him at the approaches, the moat, the walls, as if searching for a weak point. He did not remove his armor, as we did, for freedom to work and kept his visor closed. Suspecting him, we seized him."

"Ah, ha!" exclaimed the general. "Take him to the parapet and hang him in view of the prince who sent him."

A gibbet was erected, a ladder placed in position and the prisoner taken on to the parapet for hanging. He begged that he might offer his last adoration to his God in his own way, and when permission was given him, facing to the west, where the sun was sinking, he bowed low three times.

"He's worse than a heathen," cried the captain of the execution party. "He worships fire. Send him to hell, where he belongs."

The youth was forced to climb the ladder, the noose was put about his neck, and the ladder was kicked away. There were a few jerks and all was quiet.

The night was dark. The sentry who guarded that part of the parapet where the spy hung was obliged to pass and repass the gruesome object on his beat. At first he would not look at it. Then in passing he turned his eyes toward it, as though compelled by a dread fascination. There was nothing of the body to be seen within the armor except a lock of hair that hung below the helmet.

"It doth amaze me," muttered the sentry, "how long these cavaliers wear their locks. Mayhap it serves for a rope whereby Satan lowers them into the burning lake."

Encouraged by the thought, he gave the corpse a poke with his pike. As it swung back toward him he thought he heard a low moan. Daring to the end of his beat, he hid behind a stone projection and could not induce himself to again walk past the body. While he stood shivering in his corner a wind sprang up, swaying the dreaded object and occasionally knocking the steel armor against the gibbet. To shut out the sound he put his fingers in his ears.

When he heard the relief coming he took up his pike and resumed his beat. There was the ghostly thing still swaying in the wind. The sentry was relieved, and his successor, a braver man, marched to and fro on his beat without fear. Once when passing it occurred to him to strike it with his pike. What was his surprise to hear it emit a hollow sound. He struck it again, with the same result. Then he put a hand under one foot and lifted it without any more exertion than would be required to lift an empty suit of armor.

"Captain of the guard," he cried, "the devil has flown away with the spy's body."

The captain came, examined the armor and stood aghast. Then he reported the fact to the general. The general came, saw and was conquered. They were superstitious in those days, and he believed that the spy was a supernatural being who had come to find out how best the stronghold could be taken. The ghost had seen that but a handful of men defended it. Besides, it had seen a circuitous path that led to the rear, over which a force might come and fire into the works from a greater height. The general went trembling back to his quarters.

The next morning he saw the forces of the enemy drawn up prepared to climb the heights and a detachment moving toward the path leading to his rear. He ordered a white flag displayed on the battlements.

Later a party carrying a litter came up the declivity. In the litter was a girl, pale and languid. A young knight who accompanied her stated that she had been sent to receive the surrender. The general gave it, saying:

"I can fight men, but not spirits. Yesterday a mysterious stranger was observed spying on our works. He had neither the face of man nor woman, but a creature betwixt the two. We hanged him on the parapet that the prince might be deterred from sending others. In the night that which seemed to be a body vanished."

A smile came upon the girl's wan face. "General," she said, "I was this supernatural creature. I volunteered to come and get the information required for your defeat. Before the exception I bowed three to the west, which, by a code agreed upon, told the prince your weakness and the best route of procedure. When I was hanged my hair was loose under my helmet and protected my throat from the noose, which, too, caught in a projection of my armor. I remained unconscious till". She looked at her companion. He said:

"Seeing the body of my affianced bride hanging on the parapet, I resolved to secure it or die. A party brought ladders, by which I crossed the moat and by another climbed the battlement. As I was about to cut the halldown I heard a moan. I loosened the noose, took the burden to the other side of the moat and sent a man back with the armor to hang it up, thinking to conceal the theft till we could take counsel. Our brave girl was brought back to consciousness, and the prince gave her the right to receive your surrender."

The girl who had achieved this great work and merited herself to complete it as soon as the story was told fainted. It is one thing to do the work of a spy, another to be hanged.

NELLIE EDNA CURTIS.

A Bit of Blue Sky.

Professor John Tyndall, who with many great gifts, possessed a singular skill in devising and conducting beautiful experimental illustrations, actually produced in 1869 a bit of blue sky in the lecture room. In a glass tube three feet in length and three inches in diameter he exhausted the air until it was less than one-tenth the density of the atmosphere we breathe and represented the rarer air high overhead. Into this exhausted air he introduced nitrite of butyle vapor, which is extremely volatile. Then a strong beam of light in a room otherwise dark was passed through the mixture, and in the glass tube there glowed a beautiful blue cloud, rivaling in color the finest Italian sky. Here was blue sky brought down to earth.

Let Him Try.

"I fear no foe in shining armor," sang the man at a concert.

"Don't you, old chap?" grumbled the bachelor in the front row. "Then you try to open a sardine box with a pocket-knife."

One Secret.

Lawyer—I must know the whole truth before I can successfully defend you. Have you told me everything? Prisoner—Except where I hid the money. I want that for myself.

He Knows.

"I suppose you know why you are here?" asked the judge severely.

"Yes, sir," answered the prisoner. "I wuz druz here."—Birmingham Age Herald.

Of Interest To Women.

To such women as are not seriously out of health, but who have exacting duties to perform, either in the way of household cares or in social duties and functions, which seriously tax their strength, as well as to nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proved a most valuable supporting tonic and invigorating nerve. By its timely use, much serious sickness and suffering may be avoided. The operating table and the surgeon's knife, would it be believed, seldom have to be employed if this most valuable woman's remedy were resorted to in good time. The "Favorite Prescription" has proven a great boon to expectant mothers by preparing the system for the coming of baby, thereby rendering childbirth safe, easy, and almost painless.

Bear in mind, please that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse, because of the uncertainty as to their composition and harmless character, but is a MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol. It may be out of place to state that the "Favorite Prescription" is recommended by the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, and sold through druggists, all the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of these endorsements will be sent to any address, post-paid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card, or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. Easy to take as candy.

Particular attention is called to the 15th Section of the By-Laws, viz.: Whenever an assessment has been made on the premium notes and not paid within thirty days after the same shall have been demanded, the policy shall be considered null and void and of no validity, but the Directors may retain the premium note and collect thereon such sum and should it become necessary to enforce the payment of the amount assessed by suit at law, the recovery of said sum to form part of the claim due by the delinquent member of the society.

Col. McClure's Speech at Fredericksburg.

At the dedication of the Pennsylvania monument at Fredericksburg the latter part of November of this year, Col. Alex. K. McClure made the oration and among other things said: Pennsylvania made the most illustrious record of any of the Northern States in our Civil War. Her War Governor, Andrew Gregg Curtin, stood single and alone in the very forefront of the war executives of the North, and he is crystallized in history as "The Great War Governor" and "The Soldier's Friend." I was by his side as a State Senator representing the Gettysburg district when the terrible conflict began, and was intimately connected with the State Government until the broken and decimated armies of the Confederacy finally surrendered because they were compelled to choose between surrender or dying in an utterly hopeless cause.

The day is not far distant when the statue of Lee, the most beloved of all Southern men, who stands in history today abreast with the few great soldiers of the nineteenth century, will grace the streets of our national capital along with that of Grant as a tribute of the Nation to the greatness of American commanders, and I hope at an early day to see Virginia and Pennsylvania unite in placing on Seminary Hill, at Gettysburg, an equestrian statue of Lee, with the right conceded to the South to embellish that memorable field with statues of her heroic leaders. A few years ago I made an earnest appeal to the Pennsylvania Legislature to inaugurate such a movement, and it was delayed rather than refused for the reason, as then given, that it was not yet the time for so pronounced a declaration from our State that peace with sectional brotherhood had reached its consummation. We are here today unveiling a monument to Pennsylvania's fallen heroes on one of the great Virginia battlefields, and there is welcome on every hand by the veterans who won the victory and the citizens who sympathized with the Gray, and I would give equal welcome to the statues of the Confederate heroes on the Gettysburg battlefield, and thus enable the visitor to that historic ground to read, by the statues and tablets on both sides, the complete history of the decisive conflict of the war.

The veterans of both sides have long been teaching the country that peace and brotherhood have been restored to it. There is not a grave of a veteran of the Gray in any cemetery in the North, where the graves of Union soldiers are made beautiful and fragrant on Decoration Day, that is not decorated with equal care, and the veterans of the Union thus pay equal respect and honor to the fallen on both sides of the conflict; and the veterans of the Gray never fail to decorate the graves of the fallen Union veterans when that tribute is paid to their fallen brethren. A Confederate soldier was a Cabinet officer under Grant; a Confederate soldier was a Cabinet officer under Hayes, and a Confederate soldier is a Cabinet officer under Roosevelt. Surely the time has come, after forty-three years of a reunited Nation when all the terrible asperities should be only a shadowed memory, and when all the grand attributes of generous and affectionate brotherhood should be visible in every section of our great republic. Here, standing among the graves of the heroic dead of both the great armies that were engaged in deadly struggle all will unite in the patriotic utterance of the great expounder of the Constitution when he replied to the early advocacy of secession by one of South Carolina's great statesmen, "Liberty and Union, now and forever, one and inseparable."

Farming the Susquehanna.

Although with the exception of the St. Lawrence River it is the largest stream flowing into the north Atlantic, the Susquehanna River has never been renowned for anything but scenery and trouble.

Since the timber has been stripped from its mountainous drainage basin, embodying an area of 27,000 square miles, the floods of the Susquehanna have been extremely sudden, violent and destructive. Not infrequently it attains the remarkable record of a flow at high water equal to twenty-five times its volume at low water.

Large as it is, the erratic Susquehanna is navigable for only five miles above its mouth. Beyond that point it is so full of rocks and shoals and rapids that nothing but an occasional raft at high water has ever passed down.

Such a particularly outrageous stream is the Susquehanna, says the "Technical World," that it is difficult to find room upon it even to navigate a ferryboat comfortably. One of these quiet reaches is McCall's ferry, where a part of Washington's army crossed on its way to do up Cornwallis at Yorktown. The commander himself crossed at Conowingo Ford, fourteen miles below.

At this historic spot some clever engineers are demonstrating that the Susquehanna is good for something after all for they are building a hydro-electric power plant which is remarkable. Not the least interesting feature is the extraordinary care with which the situation was studied before plans were formed. To be sure engineers are proverbially painstaking, but in this case a new record for thoroughgoing accuracy was established. It was the highest tribute that man could pay to the terrors of the Susquehanna.

Do THE RIGHT THING if you have Nasal Catarrh. Get Ely's Cream Balm at once. Don't touch the catarrh powders and snuffs, for they contain cocaine. Ely's Cream Balm releases the secretions that inflame the nasal passages and the throat, whereas medicines made with mercury merely dry up the secretions and leave you no better than you were. In a word, Ely's Cream Balm is a real remedy, not a delusion. All druggists, 50 cents, or mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

Doctors

say take Cod Liver Oil—they undoubtedly mean Scott's Emulsion.

It would be just as sensible for them to prescribe Quinine in its crude form as to prescribe Cod Liver Oil in its natural state. In the oil is emulsified and made easy to take—easy to digest and easy to be absorbed in to the body—and is the most natural and useful fatty food to feed and nourish the wasted body that is known in medicine today.

Nothing can be found to take its place. If you are run-down you should take it.

Bold Burglar Ransacked House

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Moses O. Myers, near Swope's school house, about 1 1/2 miles west of New Oxford, was visited by a bold robber or robbers. Mr. Myers, wife and daughter came to town early in the evening. About 7 o'clock neighbors saw light in the Myers home but thought nothing unusual was going on. About 10 o'clock, when Mr. Myers and wife returned home they found the front door of the house standing ajar, and the coal oil lamp burning brightly on the table. Upon entering the house they found that intruders had been there, and turned things topsy-turvy. Every room in the building had been ransacked—bureau drawers, desks, etc., were emptied and their contents thrown on the floor, carpets torn up, etc. A gold watch and bracelet belonging to the daughter, and a sum of money were taken. On several occasions sums of money have been taken from the Myers home.

May Eat Meat at Christmas.

By a special dispensation granted many years ago by the Pope, Catholics are allowed to eat meat on Friday only when Christmas falls on that day. This year for the first time since 1901, the great feast day will be celebrated on Friday, and as a result of the dispensation Catholics may eat meat with impunity. This privilege applies to members of the church all over the world. While abstinence from meat on Fridays is religiously kept by Catholics as well as by some members of other religious denominations, the dispensation granted applies to Fridays only when Christmas falls on that day.

Give her a surprise of a nice maker a great surplus stock, because there was disappointin many instances a fourth less than early---yours to save his to lose---on the very newest shapes.

An Angry Elephant.
A sentinel in the menagerie at Paris has had a curious experience with one of the largest elephants. The sentinel was very conscientious and always requested the spectators not to give the animals anything to eat, which seemed to displease the elephant in question to such an extent that he several times sprinkled the sentry's head with water from his trunk. One day a bystander offered this particular elephant a large cake. The sentinel interfered, as usual, and the elephant promptly discharged in his face a violent stream of water. A general laugh ensued, but the sentinel, having calmly wiped his face, stood on one side and continued as watchful as before. Soon afterward he found it necessary to repeat his admonition, but no sooner was this uttered than the elephant laid hold of his musket, twisted it in his trunk, trotted under his feet and did not restore it until he had twisted it into nearly the form of a cockerew. Then he gave a snort at the discomfited sentinel, as if to say, "Now I hope you'll mind your own business."

A Neighing Cock.
Camden says the Thames was once called the Cockney, and therefore a cockney means simply one who lives on the banks of the Thames. Wellwood says a cockney, or cockerney, is one pampered by city indulgence. In contradistinction to rustics hardened by outdoor work. There is, however, a legend, almost too good to be true—namely, that a Londoner who had never before slept out of sound of how bells had occasion to go into the country and was detained all night. He was much disturbed by the howling of the cattle, the grunting of the pigs and other sounds of country life, which he could not understand, and in particular he was frightened by the crowing of the cock. In the morning, in response to the farmer's inquiries, he said the sound of the wild beasts had kept him awake. Just at that moment the cock crowed again, and the Londoner said: "That's the one! He's been neighing like that for hours." Since then Londoners have been called cockneighs or cockneys.

The Python.
Contrary to general belief, the python or boa constrictor rarely attacks people and is looked upon very differently by the people from the human-dryad and cobra. The python will take up his abode in a neighborhood and will not disturb anything except the henroosts. These he disturbs very much, as he has a great fondness for chickens; also for a stray dog or small cat. I know of one case, however, in a floating house where a python attacked a woman and, contrary to the preconceived idea, did not crush her in his folds, but attempted to swallow her, commencing with one of her feet. When she was rescued her foot and ankle were badly lacerated by the snake's teeth. The Chinese kill the python to make medicine from the liver, which has a high repute among them. They also use the dried skin for medicine. Any Chinese drug shop in Siam will have a number of python skins for sale.—Medical Journal.

Woman the Tougher Sex.
Although men, as they run, are perhaps muscularly stronger than women, their inability to withstand the elements and their reliance upon clothes place them considerably below the so-called weaker sex in the matter of unadorned toughness. Women wear clothes for ornament. Men use them as protective covering. A group of men marooned clothesless on an island in the temperate zone might be expected to die off in a month from drafts and colds and rheumatism. The health of women similarly placed would suffer little from the enforced exposure. The fact appears to be, therefore, that in everything but muscle, in vitality, ruggedness, character, disposition, brain power, etc.—woman is the tougher, not the weaker, sex.—Kansas City Journal.

A Xantippe Outwitted.
An Englishman of Lymington and the wife-to-be lived in a continuous quarrel with his wife, who was a model Xantippe and threatened in case she survived him to dance over his grave. It was her lot to outlive him but it was not so easy to carry off her threat. The husband had the precaution to make an injunction in his will requiring his body to be buried in the sea near his residence and without ceremony. The injunction was complied with.

Succeeded.
"No, sir," said the stern parent, "I cannot give my consent at least now. Before I will think of confiding my daughter to your care you must succeed in doing something."
"Oh, I've done that," I succeeded in kissing her last night after she had assured me that I never could until you had given your approval."

Expensive.
"No, I've decided never to accept friendly advice any more."
"Why not? It doesn't cost you anything."
"Well, I've found out that it is not invariably wise to accept your friends' Exchange."

The Observing One.
Patron H. was asked whether a couple were married or not. He replied: "If he orders two white pigeons, they are not; if he orders one tortoiseshell for two, they are."

A Parting Shot.
Group of sharpshooters in a cherry-shed, striding about. One of them, slightly, "No, confound you all! No, O. O. of them!—Cut the fringe off your iron eers same time, sir."

SIMPLE HOME RECIPE

PREPARE THIS SIMPLE RECIPE AT HOME AND TRY IT.

Druggists Here in Town Say They Can Supply the Ingredients or Make Up the Mixture.

Get from any prescription pharmacist the following:
Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Shake well in a bottle and take a teaspoonful dose after each meal and at bed time.

The above is considered by an eminent authority, who writes in a New York daily paper, as the finest prescription ever written to relieve Backache, Kidney Trouble, Weak Bladder and all forms of Urinary difficulties. This mixture acts promptly on the eliminative tissues of the Kidneys, enabling them to filter and strain the uric acid and other waste matter from the blood which causes rheumatism.

Some persons who suffer with the afflictions may not feel inclined to place much confidence in this simple mixture, yet those who have tried it say the results are simply surprising, the relief being effected without the slightest injury to the stomach or other organs.

Mix some and give it a trial. It certainly comes highly recommended. It is the prescription of an eminent authority, whose entire reputation, it is said, was established by it.

A druggist here at home when asked stated that he could either supply the ingredients or mix the prescription for our readers, also recommends it as harmless.

Cheese in the Middle Ages.

Cheese must have been a rather dear or scarce article of food in 1502, for it is recorded in the "Black Books" of the Honorable Society of Lincoln's Inn that at Easter term, 1502, it was "agreed by the governors and benchers this term that if any one of the society shall hereafter eat cheese in moderation at the time of dinner or supper or shall give cheese to any servant or to any other or shall carry it away from the table at any time he shall pay 4 pence for each offence. The butlers of the society shall present such defaulters weekly under pain of expulsion from office."—Law Times.

Her Test.

"When a young man proposes you should always be careful and test his love," cautioned the conservative chaplain.

"But I go one better, auntie," twittered the pretty girl. "Do you see this tiny bottle?"

"Yes. Does it contain perfume?"

"No; it contains acid. I test the engagement ring."

Not Very Funny.

"I did my best to be entertaining," said the young man in a voice of sorrow.

"Did you succeed?"

"I'm afraid not. I recited Hamlet's soliloquy. She looked at me reproachfully for several seconds and then exclaimed, 'I don't think that's very funny.'"—London Telegraph.

His Conscience.

"He's forever prating about what his conscience tells him. What does his conscience tell him, anyway?"

"Apparently it usually tells him what awful sinners his neighbors are."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Where She Gets Her Ideal.

She wonders if you are just the kind of man I want. He—What kind of man do you want? She—I can hardly describe him to you. He—Don't try. What's the name of the book?—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Telephone.

Professor Alexander Graham Bell is reported to have explained in a lecture how he came to invent the telephone as follows:

"My father invented a symbol by which deaf mutes could converse, and finally I invented an apparatus by which the vibrations of speech could be seen, and it turned out to be a telephone. It occurred to me to make a machine that would enable one to hear vibrations. I went to an aurist, and he advised me to take the human ear as my model. He supplied me with a dead man's ear, and with this ear I experimented, and upon applying the apparatus I found that the dead man's ear wrote down the vibrations.

"I arrived at the conclusion that if I could make iron vibrate on a dead man's ear I could make an instrument more delicate which would cause those vibrations to be heard and understood. I thought if I placed a delicate piece of steel over an electric magnet, I could get a vibration, and thus the telephone was completed.

"The telephone arose from my attempts to teach the deaf to speak. It arose from my knowledge, not of electricity, but as a teacher of the deaf. Had I been an electrician I would not have attempted it."

A Friend In Need.

A speaker in the recent Shropshire (England) election relates the following incident: One night he spoke in the poultry market at Whitechurch. The next morning a young man stopped him in the street and said:

"I was looking well after you last night."

The speaker expressed surprise at the necessity.

The young man continued his story: "I saw a young man come into the meeting with his coat pockets bulging out in a way that made me suspicious. Two of us followed him in. He stood at the back of the room, and we stood one on each side of him. Gently but firmly we pressed against him. There was a faint crackling sound of breaking eggs, and the man was out of action."

Xmas Buying

It was a cold day before Christmas.

The father had arrived in town without the overcoat he had outgrown and asked where he could get an overcoat and was told to go to Lestz.

The big boy followed. He shivered in last summer's suit and wondered where he could get a warm winter suit and was told to go to Lestz.

The mother was not far behind, the youngest boy had worn out last month's shoes and his trousers were going fast and what was she to do, and she was told to go to Lestz.

The boy declared he would not mind the weather if he only had gloves and a cap with ear hobs and he was told to go to Lestz.

The big sister blushed as she wondered where she could get a silk muffler for a particular friend and was told to go to Lestz.

When the whole family arrived they found so many Xmas Suggestions at Lestz—Overcoats, Suits, Raincoats, Shirts, Neckties, Gloves, Silk Mufflers, Handkerchiefs, Socks, Slippers, Shoes, Boots, Hats, Caps, Collars, Cuffs, and other articles, and at such reasonable prices that they did their Xmas Shopping at
